A DEMOCRATIC STATE.

New York is a Democratic State. The elecm settles that.

For the sixth time in succession the Repub icans have been beaten. If they could not carry the State this year, with the Labor diversion to help them, how can they hope ever to carry it under the present division of the voters?

These successive victories cannot be merely ocidental or fortuitous. The Republicans have done nothing to invite success. They would perpetuate the war taxes and spend the surplus. The Democrats demanded that the war taxes be "straightway" reduced and the surplus stopped. The Republican leaders faced all ways on the temperance question. They overruled the people in the natter of the Constitutional Convention. They put forward their worst men for the Legislature.

They have met a deserved defeat.

A"GOOD PLATFORM.

Col. FELLOWS, in his after-election speech applied a noticeable lack in the platform of the County Democracy upon which his canus was made. He said last night:

I have but one desire, and that is to so conduct myself that order shall be maintained in the comity, homes protected, property and life ren are and criminals who break our laws brought to the retribution which the laws demand. I go into the office unhampered by piedges and free nd unhindered to do the best I can.

If Col. FELLows's administration of the District-Attorney's office shall fulfil the promise of these words—as we sincerely hope that it may-he will have no more earnest mpporter than The World.

Mr. Fellows is elected, and we put behind us the facts that rendered his support as a candidate impossible to us, as to thousands of the best Democrats, and hope for an administration that will render his support as an official a duty and a pleasure.

His platform suits us exactly.

CHICAGO'S SIGNIFICANT VOTE.

The vote in Chicago yesterday was an undstakable confirmation of the verdict of the jury and the sentence of the Court in the Anarchist cases. That was the paramount issue involved. Democrats and Republicans united in the support of Judge GARY. The Labor party also showed its good sense by coming out boldly against the red flag. The Socialistic-Anarchist ticket, with Capt. Brack, the attorney of the condemned men, at its head, did not receive 5,000 votes-the kin-pie timber and the preliminary stuffing smallest poll ever cast by that party in of the Thanksgiving turkey. This result is an emphatic veto of the move. ment for the pardon of the Anarchists. It shows that Chicago is not, as has been charged, cringing with fear under the threats just like a boomerang. of the bomb-throwing element. The indomitable American spirit, that has conquered the West, that built and rebuilt the big metropolis of the lakes, does not cower before the mutterings of the cowardly disciples of dynamite.

Chicago's vote means that there is no place for Anarchy in the American system.

for Post.

It was the waste-basket vote that enabled FELLows to win.

ABUSE DOESN'T PAY.

One of the lessons of the election is that mere personal abuse and ridicule of a worthy candidate does not injure him.

DE LANCEY NICOLL was called all manner of names by two of the sewer-pipe organs that opposed him. He was characterized as a 'dude," a "cad," a "big head," a "collarwearer" and "traitor." The roots of his genealogical tree were dug up and his maternal ancestors branded as "Tories."

The corsage will be cut high. The three diamond wild roses, with leaves just alike, which will form a tiara on the high coffeur, were the gifts of Mrs. Munroe, mother of the groom, Miss Ellen Munroe, and Mr. Frederick Munroe. She will also wear a pearl and diamond necklace, and will carry a prayerbook bound in silver. A bracelet worn of pearls through diamond slides is a gift from the groom. And yet, notwithstanding all this, Mr. NICOLL cut down the machine majority more than 80,000.

The character and fitness of a candidate for office will always be proper subjects for discussion. But the people are not moved, except to sympathy, by mere abuse.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The bad defeat of the Democrats in Massachusetts is a distinct rebuke to the spoilsmen of the party.

The convention that nominated Mr. Lov-ERING squarely antagonized the principle of Civil-Service Reform. Its spirit was hostile to the President's policy in that State. A pronounced opponent of the President was elected a national delegate over a pronounced

Mr. WILLIAM ASTOR'S generous subscription of $100,000 towards the great Episcopal Cathedral affords another gratifying indication of the revival of public spirit among our millionaires. This growing appreciation of the nobler opportunities and higher duties of wealth serves in some measure as an offset to the dangerous aggregations of capital.

The trustees already have on hand sufficient money for the purchase of the land. Though the total amount desired is $10,-000,000, the outlook is very favorable. Mr Aston's gift should arouse a rivalry in generosity among the rich Episcopalians and other denominations. "Go and do likewise" is an excellent motto for the wealthy churchmen. It is proposed to push the Cathedral project n American fashion. Then, of course, it will succeed. It has required centuries to Brooklyn was greatly excited yesterday over the uncertainty of the Mayoralty election until THE WORLD bulletin announced that Alfred C. Chapin, the Democratic candidate, had been elected by a small majority.

The latest official figures in the Mayoralty contest throughout the city give Chapin, Democrat, 52,780; Baird, Republican, 50,977; Clancy, United Labor, 11,691; Utter, Prohibition, 2,043. Chapin's plurality is 1,803. It was a day of surprises. Had the Repub-Abercromble. and in many quarters no more disappointment, than did the election of C. D. Rhinehart, Republican candidate for Sherif. It was conceded throughout election day that he was receiving the unanimous support of the voters of the Eastern District and a share of outside endorsement, but Furey's friends hoped and even expected to counteract that influence by the county support of the Democratic rank and file, as well to counteract that influence by the county support of the Democratic rank and file, as well as the support of a large number of Republican votes which his ability and political wisdom presumably had secured. But despite all this Rhinehart, with over 5,000 plurality behind him, was elected. In his own ward, the Ninth, Furey barely held his own, a strong Democratic opposition being manifested, and in the trading and scratching, which formed a feature of the political work there, he suffered more, perhaps, than any candidate on the City or County tickets. Rhinehart ran ahead of his ticket. His election is easily explained from the references to be drawn from the comparisons. Clancy, United Labor candidate for Mayor, polled a fair vote, but hardly as large as his friends expected, while Utter, Prohibition, was practically out of the fight.

With the small Democratic plurality and the defeat of Furey, came the defeat of Thomas F. Farrell, Democrat, for Senator from the Fourth District, and the election of Jacob Worth, Republican. Ever since the campaign opened there have been no more sanguine followers of any political candidate than the friends of Farrell.

In the Second Senatorial District James F. Pierce, Democrat, was elected over Soward and Beatty, United Labor and Prohibition candidates respectively. There was no practical opposition offered by the Republicans.

the Republicans fought against odds. For the first time in the history of the country the President of the United States threw the whole weight of his influence into a local contest, while one of his Cabinet officers, under the pretence of illness, was in New York City, personally managing the campaign. A corruption fund, never before paralleled, was used to defraud the voters. The result leaves New York the battle-ground for 1888.

"The result in Massachusetts is particularly gratifying to me, because the Boston Globe persistently claimed that a vote for Ames was a vote for Blaine. It made the issue and must abide the result. The rethe Republicans fought against odds. For the

In the Third Senatorial District Eugene F. O'Connor, Republican, was elected over Ross. Democrat, by about 2,309 plurality. In this fight there was almost as much interest shown as in the battle in the Fourth.

The struggle over Supervisor-at-Large was an earnest one. Quintard, Fitchie, Waters and Stokes, the latter respectively representing the United Labor and Prohibition tickets being in the field. The fight was by no means a one-sided one, as the returns show. Candidate Quintard, according to the latter truns, has been elected, although "There is no wavering in any nephotean State, and the result shows that the Repub-lican party has it in its power to carry the country next year. Thorough organization will bring victory." show. Candidate Quintard, according to the latest returns, has been elected, although with a small plurality. This leads the friends of Ritchie to hope that a recount will materially change the appearance of things, and it is likely that a recount will be asked.

According to the outlook now, the Assemblymen will stand nine Democrats to three Republicans, and the Senate two Republicans to one Democrat.

The popular enthusiasm which was evoked in Michigan at the time President Claveler counter charges are brought against the Republicans.

The State ticket as regards Brooklyn was successful. Latest returns from King County show Cook's plurality to be 12,071. Cook polled 57,560 votes and Grant 45,489. Henry George surprised every Brooklynite by receiving 15,483 votes. Huntington received but 2,101. The popular enthusiasm which was evoked in Michigan at the time President Cleveland selected G. V. SEPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD.1 Berlin, Nov. 9.-Universal attention and interest are directed to San Remo, and every particle of information relative to the Crown Prince is eagerly grasped at. The public are, however, exhibiting exemplary patience and care, calmly awaiting the result of to-night's and to-morrow's examination. The following details are published by Berliner Tageblatt: Last Friday week the Crown Prince's voice was better than it has been since the commencement of his illness, and the appearance of his illness, and the appearance of his throat was satisfactory. A few days afterwards his voice became somewhat husky and the swelling increased so that His Imperial Highness has an uncomfortable feeling in his throat. Mackenzie believes he will be able to remove the piece of new growth, though it will not be easy to do so. He will not, however, attempt it till after the arrival of the other specialists in order that they may see the Crown Prince's throat as it now is. Meanwhile His Imperial Highness is taking ice pills and soothing remedies. Dr. Mackenzie is said to be still strongly against any external operation. The Crown Princess is devoting herself with untiring energy to the care of her illustrious untiring energy to the care of her illustrious consort, and His Imperial Highness continues to be cheerful and in excellent spirits. Mackenzie has given him an accurate account of the malady.

The same paper hears by telegram to-day the so far satisfactory news that there is absolutely no immediate danger.

The sympathy felt for the Crown Prince and his family in diplomatic as well as in purely German circles is very marked. I regret to be obliged to state that the fresh growth that has appeared in the Crown Prince's throat does in reality give rise to apprehensions as to its malignant nature. Its appearance leads the doctor to suppose it to be so, and I understand that Sir Morrell Mackenzie will probably try to remove a portion to-morrow, which will be sent to Prof. Virchow for examination.
